MR. A. B. McATEE

His Death By His Own Hand Brings Sorrow to the CommunityIll Health and Intense Suffering Cause Self-Destruction

In Saturday's LEDGER we gave only the announcement of the death by his own hand of Mr. Alfred Benjamin McAttee, familiarly known as Albie McAttee, our report saying that he had shot himself through the brain.

The death of Mr. McAttee by his own hand was such a shock to his relatives and friends that it was some time afterwards that the details became known generally.

He had been a sufferer for months with erysipelas in his eyes and his nervous system was badly deranged and he had been constantly under the care of Dr. W. S. Taulbee up to the day of his death. Saturday morning after breakfast, he had put up a lawn swing at his home and his buggy was ready for him to drive to his farm near Fernleaf. About 9 o'clock he went to his room, and his sisters, Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Pickett noticed he was feeling ill and the former talked to him and then went down stairs and told Mrs. Pickett to go up to him and advise him to remain at home. Mrs. Pickett was opening the door of his room when he fired the pistol into his breast. Mrs. Pickett rushed to his side and grasp the weapon and said: "Oh! Albie, why did you do that?" She fell upon the bed with her brother and his life-blood drenched her clothing. The shot was heard by many neighbors, and Mr. Gordon Gilmore and Mr. William Groppenhauer hurried to the scene and tenderly took Mrs. Pickett from his body, and Dr. Taulbee, who lives nearly opposite, was there in less than 5 minutes. Upon Dr. Taulbee's arrival he found Mr. McAttee expiring. He had shot himself while reclining on the bed with a small .22-caliber revolver, just below the neck, the ball severing the jugular vein, going through his body and was found in the mattress. The unfortunate man lived only a few minutes.

Mr. Frank Allen, his nephew, was just coming out of the bathroom, only a few steps away, when the fatal shot was fired. Mr. Allen and all say that Mr. McAttee had been suffering intense pain and that it became unbearable to him and that for a moment he lost his reason and ended it all.

Others say that he had contemplated self-destruction as he had the day before settled up several accounts and had canceled the contract to build a barn on his farm. However, the fact is that he probably suddenly realized that his nerves were beyond control and in a fit of dementia took his own life.

Albie McAttee was the son of the late Benjamin and Elizabeth McAttee, who were beloved residents of Mason county, and was born on the McAttee farm near Fernleaf, October 15th, 1860, and would have been 52 years of age his next birthday. He was never married and was not a member of the Church, but all will agree that a gentler and more lovable man never lived than he. He was devoted to his sisters and relatives and was noted for his love of children and his charity. He gave with a liberal, though silent hand, and many a tear will be shed by those who have partaken of his bounty.

Deceased was quite wealthy, owning nearly 300 acres of Mason county land and considerable personal property. Besides he carried $3,000 life insurance in the order of Macca-bee. He was also a member of the German-town Lodge of K. of P.'s.

His immediate relatives are his sisters, Mrs. Ella Allen and Mrs. Carpio Pickett and nephew, Mr. Frank Allen, who lived with him in a delightful new home they had only recently purchased and improved, in East Second street, this city, and Mrs. W. B. Gibbons, his third sister, who with his niece, Miss Elizabeth Gibbons, reside at Columbia, Mo., the two latter having been married, and will probably be here to attend the funeral.

Mr. McAttee's funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Germantown Cemetery.

To the sorrowing sisters of this gentle and popular citizen the heartfelt sympathy of all is sincerely given.

Mrs. Alice Yell of the East End spent Saturday with friends in Aberdeen.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
JAMES S. SHERMAN.

Forty states back the Colonel and call the third party convention, we are told by his admirers. The call is, indeed, signed by men hailing from, if not representing forty states. The appeal is made to all, "without regard to past political differences."

The Call.

Proceeding in this non-partisan spirit, we find that the total vote cast for President in these forty states in 1908—we exclude New Mexico and Arizona, approximately—was 14,156,472. Sixty-three gallant gentlemen have signed the call. They constitute forty-four ten millionths of the voting population of the forty states, or, per-centage wise, .0000044. Tooley street is short and we don't remember its population, but in point of dilution the Colonel's signers have the three tailors "skun a mile."—New York Times.

The removal of postmaster McHargue, at London, for the reason of his writing a derogatory article about the President, strikes us as entirely proper, notwithstanding the so much referred to American privilege of free speech. We have not seen the article hat brought about the trouble for McHargue, but being more or less acquainted with his zealousness for a lost and unmeritorious cause, his adherence to the doctrine nobody is so great as Don C. Edwards, we take it the article was fully McHargonian.

The Facts About Those Opposing Taft.

Everybody knows that the fight made by some of the London politicians and the old Edwards following throughout the 11th districts for Theodore Roosevelt was made for no reason except Taft would not violate all precedent and the will of the great majority of the people of the district by giving Edwards carte-blanche in the matter of retaining his friends in office. Everybody knows that the principles inaugurated in this district by the Edwards people are no more like the principles advocated by Roosevelt than Caius Cassius resembled Brutus and that in a convention of Roosevelt theorists Edwards and his supporters in the main, would not be entitled to a seat in the peanut gallery. Taft was unusually kind to Edwards when he was in Congress and during that time Taft owes, as we remember, the greatest President of them all, so said Edwards. Albeit the opinion has changed, Taft is not great now, he is not even a good man, but imposed on by evil men as Roosevelt thinks, but according to the London phase he is a crooked President acting and doing wrong intentionally. According to our idea if he did not promptly remove from the people's service; promptly resent such an affront to our President he would then be subject to just criticism. While we do not have less-majest in this country, we have patriotism and we have Americanism and we have the glory of the Stars and Stripes. Every good citizen whether he is for or against the President for re-election will certainly applaud him for preserving and maintaining the dignity of the people's highest office.—Middlesex or o Thousandsticks.

If Teddy Roosevelt could change his position in the jungles of Africa as fast as he did his political ideas at Chicago he could make all the lions and tigers in that country crossed trying to locate him.—Carisle Mercury.

The American Economist says: What is "the difference between the cost of production in this and in other countries?" No one knows. No one ever will know. You might almost as well ask "How big is a piece of chalk?" Even if the exact truth could be ascertained—and it cannot be ascertained—it would be found that there is a wide disparity in production cost in the various competing countries of the world. It is one thing in Great Britain, another thing in Germany, and a very different thing in China and Japan. It is one thing in one American factory and another thing in another American factory.

Minnesota is now the thirty-third State to ratify the income tax amendment to the Federal Constitution. The Democratic State Convention in Louisiana recently instructed the Legislature of that state to ratify, but the Legislature will probably be slow to respond, since the imposition of an income tax would open the way for the removal of the duty on sugar. Of the states which have not ratified, Florida, Utah, Wyoming, West Virginia and Pennsylvania will probably give their assent next winter, so that the new amendment is likely to date from early in 1913. In that case it will have taken a little less than four years to secure the assent of three-fourths of the states to the first change in the Constitution since 1870.

Political Pickings

Omaha Bee: Governor Wilson having attacked the high cost of living, Colonel Roosevelt naturally dashes to the front with the claim that he saw that issue first.

Springfield Republican: Asking Governor Wilson to resign his present office because he has been nominated for the presidency is quite as sensible as asking Mr. Taft to resign his.

Chicago News: Will not the convention of the Roosevelt party lack interest, since there will be no one there for the Colonel to fight?

Atlanta Constitution: George Bailey predicts 1,000,000 Democratic plurality in November, and says he is willing to let it go at that.

New York Evening Post: There is little point now to the old threat, "If they don't take Taft, they'll get Me."

Boston Advertiser: T. R. plans to recall a few of the New York judges this fall, just by way of illustration of his point.

Columbia State: There's nothing to it—the only white hope that can lick Johnson is Theodore Roosevelt.

"How do you fellows manage to get rid of wild cat mining stock when everybody knows it is worthless?" ask the Gold Brick men.
"It is easy," replied the Mining Stock man. "We simply find out the names of the men in small towns who are afraid to trust the local banks, and they take all we can deliver."

DEPEW, 78, STILL SPRIGHTLY

Chauncey M. Depew, seventy-eight years old, stepped into the reception room of his wide, high-ceilinged house at No. 27 West Fifty-fourth street, with the same springy, erect carriage which has distinguished him always. With his same old genial smile and hand clasp he demanded to know of a reporter if he were not as young looking as ever. He appeared to be.

"Well," said Mr. Depew, "I suppose you want to know the secret of youth? What? Most wealthy Americans don't know it? So, so. Well, they use their acquisitive faculties so much that they forget how to play. I always mixed work with play in physician-like quantities. It's the secret of health, wealth and pleasure. But I fear it has won me the reputation of being a frivolous person." Mr. Depew shook his head.

"A frivolous person," he repeated meditatively. Then his eyes twinkled. "Yes," in answer to a question. He had read Joseph H. Choate's declaration that this is an age of defamation and elimination. But he (Mr. Depew) did not agree with it.

"This age isn't a circumstance to former ages," he said. "Why, back in the days when the republic first started if you were to have read the opposition papers you must have concluded that George Washington was every-thing from a hypocritical liar to an unmentionable bigot, not to mention the other unmentionable mentions of him. Hamilton was secretary of the treasury, and saying he was a defaulter was a mild form of praise. If he had lived then Mr. Choate would probably have been speechless."

"However, I was reading over some letters written by a Federalist ancestor of mine to his son just after Jefferson's election. He wrote that Jefferson was 'an infidel and a Jacobin.' Further, he said that he was glad he was leaving a republic that was going to the dogs under Jefferson's administration. Whenever I'm blue I read those letters and grow optimistic."

MAJ. RHOADES SUCCEEDS BUTT

Rhoads has been discharging "Archie" Butt's duties since the latter left for Europe several months ago. Major Rhoads had been assigned as the president's physician, and when Major Butt left the president selected him to fill the aid's post temporarily. Major Rhoads' appointment was decided as soon as it became certain that Major Butt had perished in the wreck of the Titanic.

SHE'S MRS. JOHN ASTOR NOW

Although Ava, Willing Astor has proclaimed herself a resident of England, and has announced her intention of rearing her daughter Muriel abroad, no intimation has come as to when she will start back to London.

Society is waiting impatiently for this announcement, as from it a fairly definite answer may be gleaned to the one big question which is agitating the four hundred now.

Will Mrs. Ava Willing Astor try to resume her place in society here and become the recognized feminine head of the Astor family?

Public discussion of this phase of the complicated Astor family situation is considered out of the question during the present period of mourning, but private speculation upon it is rife in all circles of society.

The fact that Mrs. Astor, immediately upon her arrival here, took pains to identify herself to interviewers as Mrs. John Astor is taken by many to indicate that she a pires for reception here as THE Mrs. Astor. That her experience in society would give her a considerable advantage over the youthful Mrs. Madeline Force Astor is conceded. Doubts, however, exist at present as to whether either of the Mrs. Astors will ever be able to grasp the scepter held by Mrs. William Astor, the colonel's mother.

Had Colonel Astor lived, it is probable that his bride eventually would have been accepted in his set as a leader. But as the colonel died before she could be established in that position, and as before her marriage she started on tennis courts, rather than in ball rooms, it is considered doubtful whether she can ever become the social celebrity that she surely would have become had her husband lived.

WEYLER MAKES NO APOLOGIES

work he confidently maintains that, if he had been in command of the Spanish forces in Cuba when the Americans under Gen. Shafter invaded that island, he would have driven the invaders into the sea and caused the war to go down in history as a Spanish, and not an American, triumph.

"I glory in the insults leveled at me by the Americans and the Cubans," declared Gen. Weyler, who was the grim Spanish commander of the Spaniards in Cuba—who built the "trocha," drove within his lines the hordes of starving Cuban "reconcentrados," and was largely responsible, in the minds of many, for the Spanish-American war.

He makes the statement in the fifth volume of his book, "My Command in Cuba," which has just been published in Madrid. It is the last of the series of volumes, the four previous ones having followed each other at intervals during the past two years.

Weyler makes no apologies for the acts that caused his name to be execrated here and in Cuba, except in so far as to state that he believes in justice tempered with severity and never treated his opponents with unmerited cruelty.

In the "epilogue," which sums up his lines the hordes of starving Cuban "reconcentrados," and was largely responsible, in the minds of many, for the Spanish-American war.

BLUE GRASS FAIR

Seventh Annual Exhibition Opens At Lexington, Monday, August 12th.

CONTINUES FOR SIX DAYS

Bigger and Better Than Ever This Year—Numerous Attractions, Including Innes' Great Orchestral Band, the Greater Parker Shows and Big Free Attractions.

Lexington, Ky.—Since its organization in 1906, the Blue Grass Fair has taken full rank with the largest and the best of the State Fairs and Expositions of the country. It has very justly become known as the greatest horse show in the world. It is the only fair which offers a full quota and a classification for breeding classes of the three great breeds of American horses, as well as show classes, simplified and arranged in a manner which makes their distinction clear.
Pitched on a larger and more extensive scale than ever before, with the certainty of increased interest on account of various added features, this year's fair promises to eclipse all previous records.

Numerous additions and improvements have been made in matter of show rings and amusement features have been secured of a kind and to an extent that justify the belief that the fair will prove not only more valuable than ever to the live stock interests of Kentucky, but also more attractive to those who visit it. In addition to the weanling and yearling divisions of the great Saddle Horse Futurity, three stakes are offered in the show classes for Saddle Horses.

Attractive Program Each Day.
One of the most attractive programs for the week will be on Wednesday when the classes for standard bred horses will be shown.

In addition to the cash premiums of forced seasons to the leading horses in service are donated by various owners and should attract the attention of the entire horse world.

Besides, such great performers and stars as Kentucky Todd, Walnut Stall (the sire of the Harvester 2:01), Tre gaule, Cochato, Vice Commodore John A. McKerron, etc. Mr. David M.
Look, of New York, donates a season to the great horse Blingen (sire of the champion light harness horse of the world Uhlman). The fair will be open on Monday, August 12th, at 2 p. m. when an attractive racing program has been arranged, interesting show rings will be seen, and Innes' great band with Miss Beatrice Van Loan, soprano will be heard. The Greater Parker Shows, the greatest on the road, will hold forth in "Gayety Lane," with the cleanest and best shows ever shown to a Kentucky audience.

One Tuesday, the 13th, the big mid-week show, always a most interesting feature of the Blue Grass Fair, will be shown, and Hereford cattle will also be seen.

Various classes for sheep and swine will be judged in the pens, and the poultry and pigeons will be judged in the poultry house. The 1912 division of the great Futurity will be shown in the afternoon. This ring last year proved the greatest show ever seen at any fair—there being 61 exhibits and taking three hours for the judges to place the ribbons. Great show rings in other classes, three free attractions two big bands, two soprano singers will help fill out the day's program.
On Wednesday morning the breeding classes for Standard bred horses as mentioned above, classes for Jack stock, etc., will be shown in front of the grand stand.

Famous Blue Grass Stake Wednesday.
In the afternoon the famous Blue Grass Stake for five-gaited saddle horses, which always produces the best seen anywhere in the world. This stake always gives us a spirited and exciting contest, and brings out a large field.

The yearling division of the Saddle Horse Futurity, which is a renewal of the 1911 show should be proven a great show, including as it does the winners of last year and many others.

Thursday is always the big day and an extra program has been arranged.
The forenoon will be taken up with the breeding classes for American Saddle Horses, the prizes for which are particularly rich and desirable and certain to bring about a magnificent show.

The classes for Short Horn Cattle which always produce a show of Short Horns well worth a trip of many miles to those interested in beef cattle, will be shown in front of stand. In the afternoon will be witnessed the Junior Championship Stake for five-gaited saddle horses and an excellent program for readers, three and five-gaited horses, and fine harness horses.

Friday morning will be devoted to Jersey cattle, which is always a good show as the best herds in state meet here.

In the afternoon Shetland ponies, in addition to racing and a varied program of show classes.

Thoroughbred Day Saturday.

Saturday is always known as Thoroughbred Day when we see some of the finest racing horses of the world which bring together many of the most famous thoroughbred horses from the greatest nurseries in Kentucky.

The afternoon program is one of the most interesting of the entire week, as it includes all the championships in which final contests occur between the winners of the individual classes during the preceding days of the fair. The rule governing these classes require all animals eligible to show in these rings, or forfeit money won in the previous shows and this rule will be strictly adhered to, thereby assuring large fields and affording the public the opportunity of seeing the winners brought together.

The American Saddle Horse Breeders' Association Special, for which a magnificent trophy is offered, for best stallion or mare three years old and under, will be contested on this last afternoon.

The week promises to be not only a gala one in Lexington, but record breaking in the history of the Blue Grass Fair.

INNES AND HIS BAND

One of the Big Musical Attractions at the Blue Grass Fair.

The newspapers of the country, in commenting on Bandmaster Innes' appointment as Director-in-Chief of Music at the World's Fair held last summer at Seattle, Wash., proclaimed him one of the really great bandmasters of the world. That he is indeed so is best evidenced by the regard in which he is held by great musicians throughout the continent and by his ability to visit a city year after year and be welcomed by ever increasing multitudes.

The longer Innes remains in a city, the more he is appreciated. He is resourceful and versatile and ever on the lookout for some musical novelty.
His programs, paradoxical as the statement may seem, are a delight to the musical and non-musical alike.

Bandmaster Innes.

Innes indeed is known as the King of Program Makers. If some composition given is above the heads of some of his auditors, a catchy encore is cleverly introduced, which, while good music, full of rhythm and melody, directly appeals to everyone without exception. It is in fact this quickness of response to the unspoken thought of his listeners that has entrenched him so firmly in the hearts of his admirers.

Innes' coming engagement the week of August 12 to 17 at the Blue Grass Fair, accompanied as he will be by the full strength of his sixty-two players and several notable Grand Opera Artists, promises to be an occasion of more than local interest.

POULTRY SHOW

The Blue Grass Fair has this year become a member of the American Poultry Association, and the exhibit in this large and important department will be governed by the rules of that Association. This is a guarantee of equal rights and justice to all.

A classification embodying premiums for over 300 classes of poultry and pigeons has been prepared, and the management expects this year to be, as usual, a great show.

In addition to the cash premiums, the Blue Grass Fair and a number of merchants of Lexington have donated 20 handsome silver cups, ten for poultry and ten for pigeons. The show is in charge of the same excellent and efficient committee as in past two

HON. WILLIAM D. COCHRAN

The new Chairman of the Kentucky Republican Campaign Committee. Mr. Cochran is a native of Maysville and is a brother of Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran. He is recognized as one of the leading attorneys at the Ohio Valley Bar, is a strong Taff man and was one of the four Delegates-at-Large to the recent Chicago convention.

years, and Mr. S. S. Lane, of Spheland, Ind., has been secured to act as judge. Dr. C. W. Trapp, of Lexington, will judge the classes for pigeons. An entrance fee of 25 cents for each bird will be charged and the management hope that this, together with the American Poultry Association rules to govern, will confine the entries to real owners of birds.

The West is rapidly becoming the musical center of America, and it is in recognition of this that the headquarters of music and his hand have recently been moved from New York to Chicago. In welcoming the famous bandmaster to Chicago, one of the leading newspapers of that city said:
"In response to the invitation of many of Chicago's most prominent patrons of music, Innes and his orchestral band of sixty players have removed their general offices and official home from New York to the City of Chicago. The series of popular concerts announced to be given by the organization will fittingly mark this latest addition to the musical forces of our city."

It is said that 96 Portsmouth citizens have purchased automobiles this season, which represents an expenditure of $125,000.

OVER THOUSAND PRISONERS

Paroled By Kentucky State Prison Commission in Twelve Years

During the past 12 years the State Prison Commission has paroled 1,100 convicts, nearly the entire population of the Frankfort Penitentiary and nearly twice the population of the Edwards Penitentiary.

The first Prison Commission was created in 1900 and paroled 277 convicts before the Prison Commission comprising Earl Brown, Harvey McCutcheon and Finley Fogg went into office March 1st, 1904.

Since that time 893 convicts have been paroled, 394 of whom were convicted of murder and 274 for manslaughter.

During the life of the Prison Commission there have been 354 convicts convicted of murder and 302 convicted of manslaughter to be paroled.

placed Doan's Kidney Pills so far above com-

Maysville citizen:

Mrs. Dora Melford, Maysville, Ky., says:
"Doan's Kidney Pills did me a lot of good and I am glad to tell about it. I had been feeling poorly for some time, before I knew that my kidneys were at fault. I was nervous and dizzy and my back and head ached. I read in a local paper how a neighbor had been cured of kidney trouble by Doan's Kidney Pills. I used them, and before long I was entirely better. I was able to sleep well and they improved my health."

Historic Blackguards

By
Albert Payson Terhune

Frederick William, Wise King, Brutal Father

A WISE king, a kind and cruel, spend-
thrift and miser, military mad, yet avoiding war; a just ruler of his kingdom and brutal tyrant in his home. These are a few of the thousands of contradictions that made up the nature of Frederick William I., second king of Prussia, and father of Frederick the Great. Perhaps it is not wholly fair, in one sense, to call him a blackguard, but in other respects few men have had better claim to the word.

His father had been extravagant and had left the newly-formed kingdom in had financial straits. Frederick Wilhelm began his reign in 1713 by cutting down official salaries and discharging many state employees. He also excited anger and ridicule by hundreds of other harsh economies.
Yet this miserly course had good effects. It paid his father's debts and gave Prussia a full treasury. Moreover, Wilhelm had full share of the national German honesty and staunch uprightness. His chief faults were ungovernable temper and parsimony.

Stingy as he was in other ways, William lavished huge sums on the army. His great joy in life was to play at soldiering. He had a scheme for collecting a corps of giants and would pay unheard-of prices to induce tall men to serve in his ranks.

In spite of his craze for military affairs, Frederick William managed to reign 27 years with only one little war to mar the peace of his realm. He sneered at all sorts of education that were not absolutely practical (even forbidding his son to learn Latin). He also chose vulgar and illiterate men and women as his boon companions, rather than such persons of intellect as happened to be at the court. He used to walk the streets, beating with his cane any one who dared to be idle. His rule was one of iron, and he firmly believed in the "divine right of kings" to do as they pleased without considering the rights or feelings of others.

Frederick William held his wife in contempt and more than once publicly made her the object of brutal jests. Of his ten children he had a positive hatred for his clever daughter Wilhelmina and for his eldest son Frederick.

Young Frederick was brought up in a strict, cruel manner, such as few modern boys would endure. He was sensitive and high-spirited. The prison-like discipline and harshness might well have broken a weaker spirit. It merely strengthened Frederick's. At length Frederick William's cruelty toward the lad became unbearable. Frederick, in 1730, when he was eighteen years old, planned to escape from bondage and to take refuge with his uncle, King George II, of England. He needed a confederate to help him escape. So he chose his dearest friend, Lieut. von Katte.

The plot was discovered by the king.
Von Katte was thrown into prison and was sentenced by military court-martial to remain there for two years.
Frederick was also arrested and taken before his father. The king was mad with rage, heaped vile insults on the helpless youth, then rushed fiercely at him, beating him almost to death before bystanders could drag him away.
But this did not check Frederick Wilhelm's wrath. He declared that his son, as a colonel in the Prussian army, had been guilty of attempted desertion in trying to escape to England. He had him placed in solitary confinement in the fortress of Custrin and ordered him beheaded.

Only the stern protests of other European sovereigns prevented the king from carrying out this unnatural threat. But he chose another punishment almost as cruel. Condemning Lieut. von Katte to death, he had a scaffold erected just outside Frederick's prison window and forced the wretched prince to witness his friend's execution. As the lieutenant mounted the scaffold Frederick called out to him, sobbing:

"Oh, forgive me, dear Katte!"
The lieutenant answered bravely:
"It is a pleasure to die for so gallant a prince."

The king next tried in vain to force Frederick to give up his claims as heir to the throne. Failing in this, he kept him long in semi-imprisonment and forced him to marry a princess he greatly disliked.

Yet, at the time of his own death, in 1740, the old king's last words were:
"I die content, having a noble son to succeed me!"

Heart Throbs Stopped.
Nan—So you've had a falling out with Jack. I thought he loved you with all his heart.
Pan—That's just it. He had heart failure.

Defeated Mt. Sterling 8 to 4 in a "Warm" Game Full of Acrobatic Stunts

Maysville won from Mt. Sterling yesterday in a game that was full of funny stunts if not ball playing features.

Score, 8 to 4.

The day was some warm, about 120 out in the diamond, and Woody had to go to the hay to prevent a sunstroke.

Wellman's playing in right field was the sensation, and his fielding and base running were the features. The Rivermen had it all their way, stealing bases, getting nice of them.

The score:

Mt. Sterling.....0 0 0 0 2 0 2 0-4

Batteries—Reeves and Vanlandingham; Beer and Snyder. Two base hits—Patterson, Long, Kimble, Wellman. Three base hits—Beer. Sacrifice hits—Snyder, Comogore. Sacrifice fly—Long.
